Accomplishments

- All 1,000 slides have been scanned and cropped.
- All metadata is complete.
- Content software has been revised and we are awaiting the new version so we can import what we have to the software.

To Do

- A new URL will be added to the metadata in order to provide access from the Heritage database to the university web server via the Content database.
- Although not part of the grant, we are starting to summarize letters the Garsts sent to family members during their photo-journalist years. These will be posted to the web site.
- Taped, personal interviews with the Garsts are in process and will be added to the web site once completed.

Concerns

- Obtaining the new Content software has taken longer than expected, but once we receive it, it shouldn’t take too long to get the slides entered.
- Teresa Neely, who has been the guiding force behind this project will be leaving Colorado State University Libraries in July to take a position at the University of Maryland, Baltimore. Even though she will continue to be involved remotely, her presence will be missed.
